

Iffy Ibekwe

Biography

Iffy Ibekwe is an award-winning attorney and owner of Ibekwe Law, PLLC. She is an estate planning attorney and evangelist for using effective wills and trusts to allow for generational wealth transfer. Iffy works to activate intentional women so they can take agency over their lives and build impactful legacies. She believes that every woman deserves to make decisions that affect her through wills, trusts, and other estate planning documents. She is also passionate about speaking about entrepreneurship, wealth equity, and supporting women.

Iffy graduated from the University of Texas at Austin (undergrad and law school) and has practiced law for fourteen years. She is the board president for Be the Bridge, a national nonprofit dedicated to racial justice. When she's not spending time with her remarkable husband and four spirited children, Iffy fusses over her innumerable plants.
